Voice to Word Consulting Inc. helps their clients refine their English communication skills. We take over where ESL courses leave off. We help non-native speakers understand formal Canadian English as well as casual expressions, accents and vocalization, body language and social skills. By revealing the nuances of how Canadians communicate, Voice to World Consulting helps foreign trained professionals speak more clearly, communicate more effectively and increase confidence in the Canadian workplace environment.

MARK PRINCE helps internationally educated professionals reach their full potential by fine-tuning their English language abilities. Mark is TESL Canada certified, holds an honours degree in theatre and has studied with some of Canada's top voice and text coaches. He has worked in ESL and voice coaching in both the UK and Toronto for over a decade. With background in both professional theatre and English as a Second Language, Mark combines theatre with experiential learning in business training and corporate coaching. His experience includes coaching in a broad range of communicative skills including refining accent and voice quality, and developing greater skill in conversation, sales, interviews, presentations and meetings.
